Profile

Recently, I earned the IBM Full Stack Software Developer Professional Certificate. Alongside this, I work part-time as a mystery shopper and run my own cat sitting business. I have a strong passion for programming, continuously teaching myself new coding languages and completing coding challenges. Mathematics has been a strength of mine from an early age. Outside of tech, I also enjoy cooking with my family and eating out in fine dining restaurants.

Other interests include:

Food Festivals, Website design, Art, Socialising with friends and family
